DEDICATION

At last I've found the perfect Mr. Chips. Ever since I read the book by Hilton, I've been wondering who "Chips" reminded me of. Now I know. It is Mr. Byland! Bushy brows, twinkling eyes, kindly manner, all the same. Loved—as much as "Chips" ever was. Every student in Hyde Park High gets a warm feeling in his heart when he comes across our quiet treasurer unhurriedly slipping through the halls tending to his numerous accounts. Still, he's never too busy to stop for a friendly word, or to relate an amusing incident in that homey drawl of his. He is really Hyde Park's Mr. Chips.

Today, June thirteenth, is Mr. Byland's sixty-fifth birthday. We should all be glad; but this is one year when we wish that Mr. Byland had made a mistake in his accounts, for now, when we say Happy Birthday, we must add au revoir.

So, as a birthday present, a parting gift, and just because we love him, we are dedicating this year's annual to Mr. Byland.

Happy Birthday and "Good-by Mr. Byland" . . .

HYDE PARK HIGH SCHOOL
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

THEME

Alice in Wonderland stepped thru a looking glass and found a whole new world awaiting her. Somewhat like Alice, we're going to step "Thru the Keyhole" into a book and travel thru the pages. While Alice found all things strange and new in her adventures, we shall find ourselves in familiar settings, among familiar people, for this book is a Diary, a record of one year's life in "Hyde Park Land." Recognize it? Of course you do. This club was the one you joined; this incident happened to you; that was your teacher; this was your football team; after all, it's your school, your world, your Diary . . . So . . . "THRU THE KEY-HOLE." . . .

KING AITCHPE

King Aitchpe! Ah, ah, Diary, hold back there! I'll admit Dick is every Girl's "Ideal", but you just musn't be so enthusiastic. Dick's last name? Dick S. Hochman, now are you happy? No, I will not give you his telephone number. Of course, you understand that he is very busy being an active Hyde Parker, not to mention being a very intelligent boy—why he was even vice-president of Sigma Epsilon. Senior English Honor and Euclidean are further proof of Dick's I.Q. Now these Honor Clubs were only a sideline. Chairman of the Welfare Committee of Student Government, member of Forum, a Senior Sponsor . . . just an all around H.P. boy. . . .

QUEEN AITCHPE

Guess what! I actually rubbed elbows today with "Queen Aitchpe"!! Yes, she's the girl chosen by Hyde Park Annual subscribers. A committee of five boys and five girls, our best citizens, chose the candidates for this election. I've forgotten to introduce the lovely lass. Diary, meet Miss Barbara Jean Foster. Barbara, may I present Dear Diary . . . Of course, Barbara is as popular as she is pretty. Clubs?? She was a member of Sr. and Jr. Girls, Mixed Chorus, G.A.A. and Monitors. How's that for a winner? Queen of charm, queen of beauty and QUEEN AITCHPE. . . .

FACULTY

Dear Diary,

The first day back to school! Gee-it seems swell to see all my old friends and it seems espec- ially nice to be back with the faculty. Students come, and students go - but faculty goes on forever -- up "ye tonight late to -

Never have to "run" for Not since our registrat-committee has put in efficient method of signing up for classes - Where in all Chicago can you find a friendlier, harder-working faculty.....

Say, I'd better wind

CLASS OFFICERS

This morning a young lady approached me and unraveled this sad tale.

"Today was voting day, and I gayly tripped over to the polls. (During my lunch period too, but every good citizen has to sacrifice something for his constitutional right to vote.) I placed my crosses after the names I thought belonged to the people best suited for the offices they were running for. But low and behold . . . when the returns came in, the winners were no one I knew. I'm in an awful fix," she wailed and then went on her way.

Poor thing!! She doesn't know that the Annual is featuring the officers of each class at the head of its section. But you do! Look for them!

R.O.T.C.

My, it looks as if I have just reams of paper here . . . and my little ticker tocks that I have lots of time. Time . . . and space, that's exactly what I need when I start to tell you, Diary, all about our super R.O.T.C. . . . To start things off, I can easily see that you're puzzling about the meaning of those four little letters. No, Diary! They did not just pick four letters at random from a bowl of alphabet soup! They really stand for something . . . Reserve Officers Training Corps!

Let's see now (I'm trying to do this in a very militaristic manner) the next thing we'd better take up is the importance of these medal bedecked males. Oh heavens, Hyde Park would fall to ruins I'm sure, if it weren't for our high and mighty "R.O.'s" to uphold its principles . . . Take, for instance, the "M.P.'s" (more initials . . . now it's the Military Police). The other day I witnessed the most amazing scene!! One of our not-so-citizenly citizens was breezing down the hall sixty miles an hour, minus a pass. With his nose in the air, he sped right past a monitor . . . and bumped into an "M.P.!!" That was really something to do. The little offender grinned rather sheepishly. Hope everything turned out O.K. . . . but I know that I turned a corner then . . . so I didn't witness the outcome.

Really, Diary, if lockers had faces, you would be able to see the smiles of contentment upon them when those "M.P.'s" are hovering around to protect their rights. Everyone in Hyde Park is so very proud to think that they've cut down locker robberies seventy-five to eighty per cent. Isn't that wonderful? I know that they're proud of themselves, too!

I've taken so much of my time and space prattling on and on about our "M.P.'s" that, I haven't told you anything else our "R.O." does. Everyone from senior down to freshie knows that an assembly, no matter whether A or D, is not complete without the "R.O." color guards!

Did you know that Hyde Park is an honor school? It is! . . . It certainly was a red star day for our "buttons-shined—shoes-polished" boys when they toed the mark in the annual federal inspection. You know, it's not every school that has the privilege of having Sam-Brown belted lads with their red stars on their sleeves. By now, you must have guessed that the merit is only attained if the Federal Inspectors deem our companies good enough. This event is, naturally, the biggest in all the year. But our boys always come through on top for Sergeant Brewer and Hyde Park.

Have you heard about the rifle team? sssh! Don't tell a soul! We don't exactly have one. It's not that the boys aren't interested . . . oh no . . . They'd turn cart-wheels if they could have one. The range has been condemned . . . because of shortage . . . Not shortage of rifles, but of space. The boys are all earnestly waiting for the day to come when they can once more make bulls eyes!

I ought to tell you now, Diary,—before I go a word further about the companies! The "future defenders of America" are divided into five companies. They compete against each other before "F.I." (that's my short cut for Federal Inspection). Then . . . the company that comes out top-most is the one that's privileged to carry the rifles in the big event ("F.I." again). You can bet that every single little "R.O.," from private on up, is set on the idea that his company should win this honor . . . Would you call them prejudiced? They all start with an even chance, 100 points to be exact. Then, as time goes along, they strive to hold these points. Each demerit counts one off. Seems as if the boys are keeping the average pretty high, way up in the nineties!

On the spring days all the "R.O." turns out almost in full force to practice in the park. That hut 2-3-4 has had me puzzled for simply ages. Will I ever find out? Maybe some fine day I'll have enough gumption to ask some well informed uniformed lad.

Every little freshie dreams of the day when he, too, can strut down our halls in a spic-and-span, "brass buttoned" garb. Of course, you know, Diary, that the uniform is rather a temporary matter since the cadets do not own them themselves. It is important, though. Even if a uniform doesn't "make" the soldier, still it goes a long way in getting the work under way.

I could go on forever and a day, if you'd let me. The first three schools who place in city wide inspection are presented with either a cup (first place) or a plaque . . . Hyde Park has acquired quite a collection of these. Our chests swell with pride (our noses tilt upwards slightly) when we see our own . . . Hyde Park's very own boys being given their awards at the annual parade on Michigan Avenue!! I took it for granted that you knew that these first three schools are all presented with colors. Oooh, Diary, this is the proudest day in their lives!

By working their very hardest . . . passing tests . . . proving that they have the "stuff that good military men are made of" they can attain honored positions of officers! Every cadet sees, some time or another, in his dream the illusions of becoming Lieutenant-Colonel! Some realize their aspirations; others rank from corporal on up.

Every year certain "R.O." boys are presented with various medals. There are American Legion ones, Tribune awards and also one awarded by the D.A.R. (Daughters of the American Revolution). It's a happy day for those lads who have achieved these awards! After all, Diary, what's an "R.O." without a medal or two?

Speaking of Commissioned officers . . . Did you ever realize that they have to be regular early worms? Yes sir, they have their meeting practically when dawn cracks . . . But it's certainly worth it . . . Don't you think so?

Not all their time is taken up drilling, being inspected, patrolling, or seeking promotion . . . Our boys really know military tactics from A to Z when they've finished their course. They've lots to learn on military science when they sign up for "R. O." . . . and believe me, Diary, . . . they do!! They learn all about first aid, and everything. (Sigh-sigh . . . Aren't men in uniforms wonderful?) They learn how to make military maps . . . and oh so much! They know an awful lot about United States history that most of us do not know.

I think I've covered "R.O." pretty well. Don't you? If there's anything you would like to know about the "R.O." just call on me.

You've guessed, haven't you, that HE's an "R.O."? . . . Ah! There's something about a soldier! Good nite!

FALL SPORTS

Dear Diary,
Fall, Autumn leaves, and sports.

Honestly, Diary, they go hand in hand. Went to the big football rally tonight - I just know our team will win! Say, wonder soccer team did so want to play, but "us scampers" over to son practice how the today. I did see them "gals" had to dear old Park ourselves for our big

Jack-to field we're hockey game. Not that not good already but you know how it

Well, Honey, guess I better quit and get some sleep. hope we win that football game!!

Sure

COACH ELLIOT HASAN SAYS,

Exhibiting a fine spirit and morale the 1939 Hyde Park football team was the best in ten years. Such comment is not based on games won and lost but on the effort and courage that this team put forth throughout the season. -

"The end of a perfect play"

Play A-14

Get that man!

This year saw a "new deal" in Hyde Park's football situation. It was evident from the very beginning of the season, when the team blossomed out in brand new uniforms, that they meant business!! Their record of seven games won, three lost, and one tied, gives evidence of this fact. But, in the mind of Coach Hasan, more important than the fine record, was the fighting spirit and unquestioned sportsmanship the team showed while the key men were side-lined by injuries and the "chips were down."

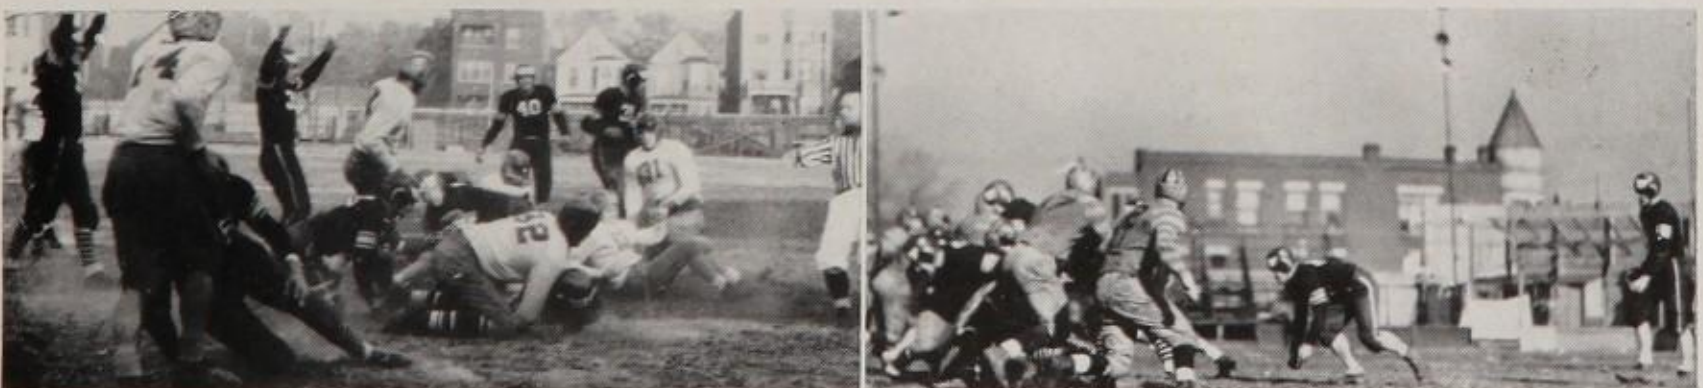

The tribe's showing against Englewood, our traditional rival, was more than satisfactory. At the end of the regular season, we had finished third place in the tough Central Section. The team had lost only to Tilden, a semi-finalist of the City playoffs, and Lindblom.

As a climax to the already successful season, the team took a trip to St. Louis, where they played University High, "City Champs" of St. Louis, on Thanksgiving Day.

During the regular league games, the talent of several Hyde Park players was recognized by players and spectators alike. By smart and spirited playing, Lucius Donkle was given a position on the Daily News, All-Section Prep Team. Lou Kalisky was pre-eminent in the race conducted by another paper to determine the All City Team. Tommy Meehan completed 16 out of 18 passes against Du Sable; probably a new high school record.

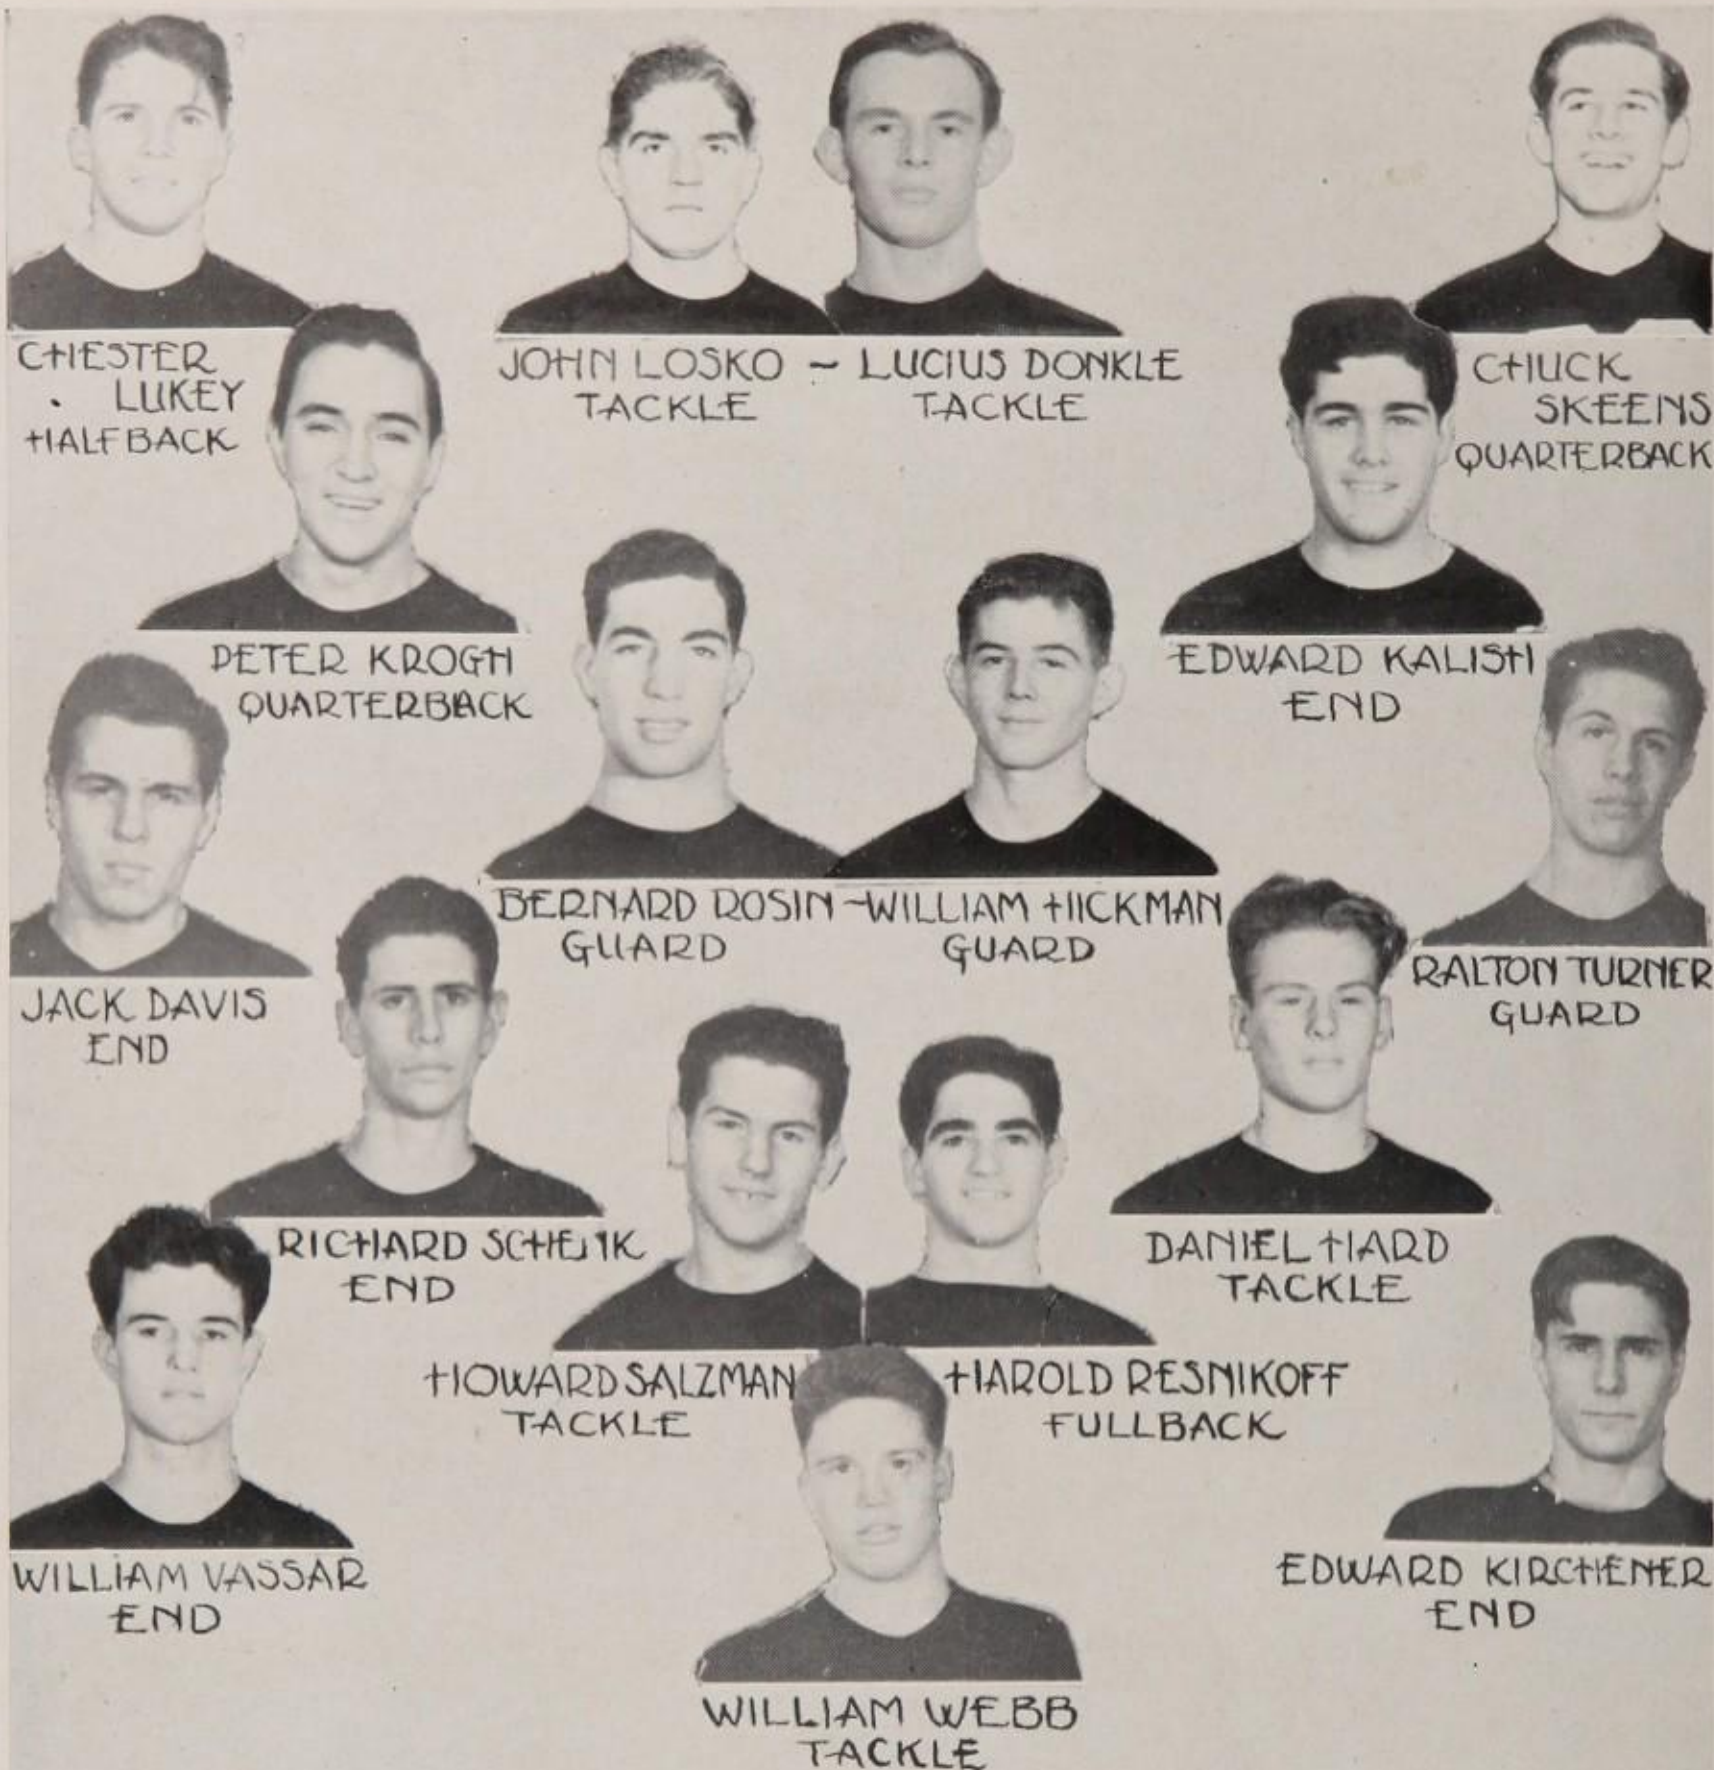

Beginning our next year, the tribe will play in the South Section League, where it meets rivals such as Hirsch, Bowen, Morgan Park, Calumet, Parker, and Fenger, City Champs of Chicago, for the past two years. We feel confident that such stalwarts as Marks, Losko, Kalish, Salzman, Skeens, Resnikoff, Grogh, Blair, Keane, Nelson, Alexander, and Isaacs will keep alive the fine football tradition that is Hyde Park's.

SOCCER

Out I went to soccer practice today, and nearly got scalped. Literally, I mean. You see, the ball was sailing through the air in my direction, and I tried to stop it with my head, in the approved soccer manner; but it landed in my hair instead of my forehead and got tangled in my fore-locks. When it bounced up again it tried to take my home grown toupee with it! And so it goes . . . No easy life is a soccer player's, Diary. If a cleated shoe misses the ball and digs—4 inches into your calf you grin and bear it. You have to run like the wind, catch and pass a ball with the tip of your foot; thus developing a nicety of timing somewhere between a ballet dancer and a tight-rope artist. It is not absolutely necessary to be a magician, but it helps.

Pass that ball!

Yeah Hyde Park!!

That, dear Diary, is our favorite yell!! Who? The Cheerleaders!! We know that we can always bring a rousing good cheer from the crowds that turn out to see our team play. Now, the actual cheerleading not only is fun, but even when we practice we have fun. Who would not with Miss Rentz's "wim, wigor, and witality" to pep up the squad?

Letters? Sure, there is a chance to win letters! And major ones at that! Maybe this time next year I shall have an "H" and "P" adorning my spiffy blue and white uniform.

We haven't had girls on the team always, you know. But they're some of our peppiest cheer-ers, now. We think cheerleading is a super sport . . . and it's almost as exciting as being out there piling up the points ourselves.

Go, H. P., go!

GIRLS' VOLLEY BALL

Do you remember way back when I used to tell you how I hated getting dressed for gym? Well, you'll not catch me doing that any more. No, sir, not again shall I complain of donning my green colored gym togs. Why, my teammates stare in awe as I race up the locker room stairs at break-neck speed. Oh! I almost forgot to explain why all this sudden enthusiasm!! It first started when the volley ball nets were put up by our jolly gym teachers for the fall season. If you wonder what I do before the rest of the class ascends the locker room stairs, I'll clear that minor point up immediately. There really are innumerable things. But of course, "pore lil' Diary" couldn't be expected to know, because it has never had a chance to play this wonderful game. I usually practice direct serves.

If ever a game needed teamwork, volleyball does. Some of our rather self-centered players are a serious hindrance . . . They are the kind who want individual glory, and the volleyball court is definitely not the place to get it. Really, the worst player is the person who runs hither and yon trying to play for everyone. But to continue with teamwork . . . if the ball is hit in the net, a front row player should dig it out with one blow and with a second hit it to some member of her team behind her. By so doing it is almost certain the ball will get over the net . . . (I'm sorry if I am boring you, Diary, but this has always been one of my "pet peeves" as it were.) Really, I'm not trying to be a gym teacher. I simply wanted to tell you how many chances there were for clever, quick-thinking girls to excel in this game. It is really very exciting, and being as I am, excitement loving, I do enjoy playing it.

Our team is made of G.A.A. members. This assures good playing. Miss Marston who sponsors G.A.A. coaches us. As long as I have been interested in girls' sports, I just learned that the girls play volleyball in place of boys' football.

Spring has come and gone. For two perfect days we had wonderful, beautiful, springy weather, now—two inches of snow. My spirits seem to go down and up with the barometer. But I know just the tonic for me—it's field hockey—just thinking about it makes me happy—The G.A.A. members form teams and have competitions—Speaking from experience, Diary, I just can feel the bruises on my shins. Some of those girl athletes are as powerful as boys—and let me tell you Diary—we sure do go to town with a hockey stick in our hands—Some people are silly enough to think that girls play with an indifferent air—well I say we don't—especially not the members of G.A.A. They all know better—and do they know how to have a good time? But definitely.

If you want to see a wonderful sight, just promenade into Jackson Park some nice sunny afternoon, then lo and behold—beautiful girls dressed in green gym suits shouting to "beat the band." And why do they shout? Well it is because they are having so much fun playing hockey.

Diary, the method of determining the best team is as fair as possible. How, Diary? Well, a round robin tournament is held.

After all this prattle, Diary, I haven't said anything about how to play the game. Well there are two goal posts and several lines, one of them in the middle and several running along the sides. These make up the hockey field.

Well, Diary, I think that I have said enough now. If you don't know all about hockey it isn't my fault. I certainly have done my best to be informative. Have I helped you any, Diary?

CHESS

Life is pure strategy for a chess man, and Hyde Park has over two dozen enthusiasts of the three-thousand year old sport. Led by Jack Rabin, the Team has done it again as of yesterday. Smoothly, efficiently, these warriors of the nimble wits have gloriously held ye old Aitchpe's honor. Listen, Diary, and ponder on all the mystic moves of pawn and king. Visualize a big checker board where men can move behind and before, to either side, cram the table with chess men who range from mere serfs to the wearers of royal purple. Now figure fifteen or twenty moves in advance and you have got a chess game, or something that vaguely should resemble one. To try to figure two moves in advance makes temples throb and bulge perceptibly.

Time is one word that means absolutely nothing to a chess player. One move may take half an hour and then, a game may take a week. After all, this game requires contemplative thinking. Then too, games may be won, not by expert "pawn pushing," but by a forfeit. This means victory by the failure of the opponent to appear at the meeting place for the game. Complicated, this chess.

SUCCESS STORY

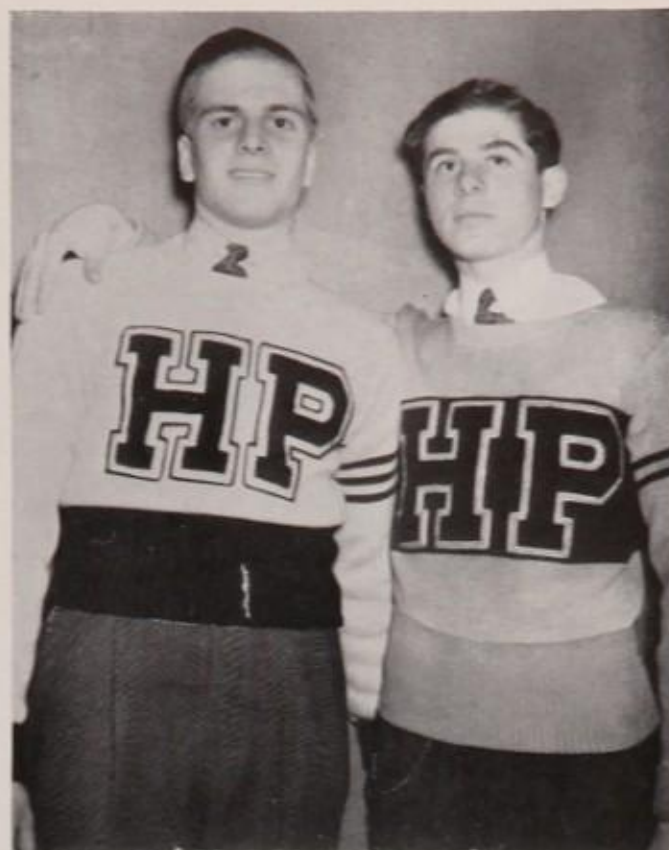

In late November a group of about sixty boys answered a first call for junior basketball. Capt. Bill Stott was the only returning letterman. Several prospective players were lost to the squad after measurement in which they were over five feet seven inches. It didn't take long for Coach Hasan to pick out his best players. They scored their first victory against the talented alumni.

The entire team practiced in the cold and unlighted gym every morning during the first week of Christmas vacation.

Hyde Park played their first city league game at Harper and was victorious. The highlight in the junior's schedule was the win over the Hirsch quintet, our near-by rivals. The Capt. Bill Stott left the team at the end of the first semester, and was replaced by Leroy Branman, who capably took over captaincy. The close of the season found our boys in a tie for the second place in the South section. The team was eliminated from the playoffs in a thrilling game with Hirsch at Mount Carmel Gym. These juniors entered in the Blue Island Invitational Tourney but were defeated in their first game. Thirteen letters were awarded to the players, eleven majors and two minors. Captain Bill Stott, Captain Leroy Branman, Tom Manning, Bill Fortune, Mel Lubershane, Julius Goldberg, Phil Kriloff, Paul Moreno, Bill Rosenthal, and Sheldon Plotnick received major letters. Minor letters were awarded to Charles Webb and Jack Lyding. Ray Klipp, a major letterman, was a star basketball player until his graduation in February.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

Davis tips one in

Hyde Park's veteran team lost no time in earning a reputation at the beginning of the recent basketball season. The coming back of Davis, Darch, Nieman, Hoover, Fogel, Ellman and Lindstrom, gave hope to Coach Schultz that, together with the best record turnout, these boys might make a name for themselves. By virtue of pre-season victories over St. Mel, Lindblom, Blue Island, Amundsen, Chicago Christian, and Aitchpe Alumni team, the team entered the Stagg Tourney as one of the favorites. The very well-balanced team eliminated Washburne and Von Steuben, when, in the quarter-finals it lost to an inspired Wells team in the overtime period.

Continuing in the same form which won them their earlier recognition from the sports authorities, the Tribe began its league schedule by disposing of Harper, Bowen, Englewood, and Parker. In the form of a diploma, fate stepped in and robbed our league leading quintet of De Clair, Carlson, Lindstrom, and Fogel. The unbalance caused in the team by the graduations became apparent as the Blue and White lost to Hirsch, Morgan Park, and Calumet, who were more fortunate in retaining their players through the season. Making their last game memorable, the boys overwhelmed Fenger, making baskets from everywhere, Captain Davis scoring twenty-seven points, personally.

My hair is just awful!! You know how terribly straight and stringy it naturally is, and I went swimming today. That certainly "cooked my goose." Any moisture, no matter how slight, has a certain "unlikeable" effect upon my hair. Oh well, one pays for pleasure.

A group of the G.A.A. girls went swimming this afternoon in our new pool. Gosh, Diary, pretty soon I'll be qualified for a Junior Life Saving badge, and I certainly have worked hard for it. I know almost all of the strangle holds and the approaches.

Say, Diary, did you hear about the water carnival?? It certainly was a success. All the boys' swimming teams and the girls' swimming teams were represented. It was the first water carnival held in the new pool.

Miss Rentz was the one responsible for the "aquatic" superiority of the girls. I certainly was proud to be one of the females.

Diary, you know that membership on the swimming team is open to any girl who can swim the length of the pool in thirteen seconds or less.

Swimming definitely holds a distinct advantage over many of the other sports in that it is not essential. And Diary, that's one of the reasons I like it so much.

You know Diary, that when I get my Junior Life Saving badge, I'll get a red and white diamond shaped badge to sew on my bathing suit. And even more important is the fact that I will have one hundred more points toward G.A.A. A hundred points makes me that much closer to my letters and then Diary, I'll be a G.A.L. (Girls' Association of Lettermen.) Then will I be proud. I think I am going to get a blue and white sweater with two rings on the sleeve.

Well, the weather is getting so wonderful (at last) that I guess we'll all be going swimming in the lake soon. Now I must curl my hair!

GIRLS' FENCING

En garde! I challenge you to a duel! Don't get excited Diary, I'm only practicing for the fencing frolic. I'm really getting to be quite a fan for fencing. In fact, so is every girl in the school. We have just finished staging a fencing frolic, and it's going to be a wow! And how!

To begin from the beginning. Someone suggested a fencing frolic. The next thing to do, Diary, was to see if the school would like it. And did they? I'll say so. Why, they were so anxious for the frolic that we had to do everything in "double quick time!"

The first thing on the program was an exhibition of elementary fencing. It was so funny that the entire audience was rocking with laughter. Next, Diary, was a real display of talent. Two of the best girl fencers fought a duel. Of course, Diary, no one was hurt, but it sure did look real. When the losers fell to the floor, there was a dead silence in the gym—but all was under control when the mortally wounded one stood up and took a bow. I had a small part in the frolic too, Diary, nothing much, but I had a lot of fun. Didn't we all?

Do you know fencing language, Diary? It's all new to me but I'm learning as fast as I possibly can. Let's see. When you're challenged you first say en garde. That means, Diary, to get in position. The next thing is extension. That's to tell the combatants to extend their arms. And then the fun begins. When the instructor calls lunge-and-parry, "the fight is on." I certainly try to get "the best of my opponent. But, Diary, I'm sorry to say that I'm not always successful.

You know, Diary, my secret ambition is to be able to fence as well as the girls who won top honors at the fencing frolic. About fifteen girls were in the fence off and four were chosen as the best.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Jacobs and Holmberg stretch?
Starr scores

What a grand time I have had in the past two weeks. I am so-o-o glad I joined G.A.A. when I was a freshie!! Because now I can take advantage of all their sports. Take for instance, basketball. Only G.A.A. members are allowed on the team.

Girls' basketball is not just like boys' basketball. I should say not! We have changed the rules to suit ourselves . . . and the girls' gym. We just play the width of the gym . . . not the length. But it is almost as difficult, because we are only allowed one dribble. You can tell by one glance that we don't need the extra exercise for our figures.

We play against teams made of members of our own grade. This is something like inter-class games. We play basketball as if it were a contest. First two teams play . . . then the winners play another team and so on until finally at the end of the semester we have a champion team.

Since we are a part of G.A.A., basketball is coached by Miss Marston. Of course, with such players as Angie Chionis, Mary Lawrence and Georgia Sarlas, who was captain of the sophomores, they don't need much instructing. They just need pointers for developing these potential skills. Really, Diary . . . you would be surprised at what our girls can do. Some day, I will bet you the whole world (well, almost, maybe) will think of baskets and balls when the names Asher, Esler, Marks or Berger are mentioned. Now, don't get the wrong idea! All the little gals are stars—really! Holmberg, Starr, Reich and Jacobs are just as much a part of the teams as any others. Yes, sir, we have got a marvelous team! Don't get disgusted because I've called the girls by their last names, but doesn't it sound more sporty, at that? That is what we want! Everything to be sporty. By the way, I don't want you to think we athletically inclined girls confine ourselves to just one game! I should say not! We could do just as well at any other game.

SIGMA EPSILON

I got it today . . . in the neck! Me, a lad who normally uses a dictionary every three words I write, went and got myself into a spelling bee! I should have known better . . .

They gave me an "easy" word first; it was "brougham," which was a type of horse-drawn carriage and it is pronounced "brou'um." By the oddest chance we'd had it for Dramatics pronunciation last week, but the scales'd fallen from my unsuspecting eyes; I knew the one I'd get next would lay me out . . . All around me people were spelling "ptarmigan," and "corpuscular," or "idiosyncrasy."

"How do you spell 'conciliatory'?" he asked me. Heavens! Is that "cil" spelled with an "s" or a "c"? Kismet. I guessed . . . wrong! Oh well, I've no respect for a man who can only spell a word one way . . .

We bring back vaudeville.

Then, president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer gave us a 1940 version of the horse-opera, with Little Nell and Handsome Harry doing their traditional best to foil the villain, who seemed bent on feeding our Nell to a mountain lion that kept protesting he wasn't hungry. Prizes were given for the best limericks about Sigma, and I split mine with a girl who'd had trouble thinking of a last line.

There you sit, Diary, staring at me; mute and blank; dumbly trusting that I will say something witty or clever about what has happened today, little suspecting if at all, that I'd have nothing encouraging to say unless about the special Sigma meeting tomorrow . . . The conclave that will gather is going to have more pep than a barrel of monkeys. The main dish will be "Information Please," if you please, which you probably don't, but enjoy just the same, so long as the teachers, and not the students, do the answering!! #### Another day with Sigma—

Today at the Sigma meeting, Miss Buchanan was going to tell us about her trip through India. In case India held no charm for you, Mr. Fiedler was going to tell us about his trip through the West. As usual, I got there late and had to endure the tolerant smile of the punctual, while I crept to my seat in silence. India is, or was when Miss Buchanan visited it, a good field for a man like Statler; for the Indians have no hotels, bedding, or telephones . . . From what she said, India is an open field for every and any improvement that can be thought of . . . cows walking around the markets eating groceries that could be better used to feed the thousands of starving children . . . I sat there fascinated, despite the fact that my seat was anything but comfy, while she took us to a Hindu temple, a mountain-top sight-seeing tour, and a magician down in a little market place. At the temple, the local god, a fat little rather jolly copper idol was to be seen. Each day, weather permitting, he was carried down by the river to cool off; each night he was carried back. Watta life!

Another day at Sigma—

Nothing is sacred . . . Even Napoleon isn't safe . . . Nor is Wellington, or a Josephine for that matter. Sigma Epsilon has perpetrated one of its immortal (?) parodies of history. After the usual club preliminaries, Wellington, the beast, appeared on the stage and promptly proceeded to do his best to break up the Napoleonic happy home by making love to Josephine; his beard tickled her, and she simply HAD to tell him about the new thinner Gillette blades . . . Then Napoleon's head appeared from under the couch he'd been snoozing beneath, and began to make caustic remarks until a French maid popped up from nowhere, and made goo eyes at him. When Josephine saw this, Wellington was forgotten; at least for the moment, and the skit ended with a mad exeunt, with Nappy waving aloft Wellington's beard.

It is just such hunks of hooey that cause people the world over to eat worms or cut out paper dolls in an attempt to get back to something approaching sanity. Then, Diary, who should pop up but a cartoonist. He drew pictures while I ate ice cream. Hard work huh? Ha!

Election Day in Sigma—

Zipped into the Stuart room for the meeting today, and found the room so crowded I had to sit on the floor. This was election day; Sigma Epsilon, to prove its democratic leanings was going to have election of officers; this necessitates glowing campaign speeches by the supporters of the various candidates. Everyone turns out for these affairs; voting for one's friends is a thing that is considered Good Form. A great deal of laughing and good-natured kidding goes on. At the call for the first vote, all the pals of the candidate got up and urged everyone they knew to vote. At the call for the second vote, the same procedure was carried out by the friends of the other of the two candidates. The votes were counted, and another president was elected for a third term! There wasn't any hard feelings, of course, 'cause we're not rabid Repubs.

Mr. Gonnolly came to the meeting to hand out the gold pins personally and to congratulate all the pupils who'd kept their "E" average all year. He said some very nice things about our club, Diary, and they made me proud . . .

Sigma Once More

I got a good seat way down in front at the Sigma meeting ninth period today, and then settled back to fete myself. The meeting was called to order and Miss Shoesmith, Auntie B. to you, introduced a guest speaker, a man from a down town department store. Wonder of wonders, he began talking in a friendly style, straight from the shoulder, but without that min-istereal tone that seems to be associated with most speakers who carry a message. At the end of his first sentence, he had me sitting on the edge of my chair; a thing only the best of speakers can do . . . He told us how he had to overcome difficulties by perseverance, and "stick-to-it-tiveness." He talked on the fine art of living with an air of one who knew just what he was talking about. He was royally applauded when he concluded with a joke I'm going to "pinch" if I can.

The bell rang and the meeting was over, but I stayed because I had to see the officers about getting a pin . . I hadn't paid my dues when they were due, and hadn't gotten my pin. Found out there's to be a party next week . . .

JUNIOR ENGLISH HONOR

had a word for it

I visited a Junior English Honor meeting today. As I entered the room, someone yelled "Hi, Juno." I timidly answered, "'Lo." I guess I looked bewildered, because a young lady very graciously explained that Jr. English Honor had been studying mythology lately and in their enthusiasm they had named each other after ancient gods or goddesses.

After I regained my poise, I discovered that the Old Testament had been studied just as enthusiastically. I suppose they were Adam and Eve then. Miss Buchanan was watching from the sidelines with a rather condescending smile. I tell you, Diary, there is nothing like a meeting of this sort to lighten your spirits. I think I'd like to join these lights of learning. I've heard they read "Idols of the King," and I think it would be fun to study Mr. Tennyson's characterizations of King Arthur and his knights. It is good food for thought!!

We get an awful lot out of our "pet" honor class. Every little minute whether we're Juno or a "dove on Noah's Ark," we profit. Of course, you've realized now that I've become a part of this honored organization. I had always thought that those Junos and Jupiters were too brilliant for me. Now, I don't profess to be as intellectual as John Kieran but I do hold my ground with the rest of the students. Gee (I should say, My!), our language and its literature are interesting.

I've never tried to write but maybe, I too, can become an author, that future Hyde Park's English Honor classes will refer to. Toodle OOOO!

SENIOR ENGLISH HONOR

I'm certainly happy that I've been a good girl and paid attention to my English teachers all through High School, because now that I'm a senior, (ahem)—with the necessary "E" average required of all members of Senior English Honor, I just naturally joined this grand organization.

We're quite proud of the fact that we have the knack of mixing work and play proportionately. I often wonder if the sound of merriment issuing out of our room at some clever quip from our beloved and learned Miss Biggs, mystifies the students next door, who are probably busily solving the Pythagorean Theorem or something.

But if they think we're a worthless lot, they're badly mistaken! Every session has something valuable to contribute, and those who plan to take competitive scholarship exams spread the word around that they're getting an extra-special boost in the way of preparation.

If I forget some of the new additions to my vocabulary, I'll remember a very happy time spent in Senior English Honor. While reminiscing, I'll think of Miss Biggs speaking clearly about the subject she loves so well, our stimulating discussions and even the boy in the front seat who so persistently wriggled his hand in the air.

There's just something about that class—I've come to the point where I carry a dictionary with me everywhere. My friends are threatening speedy extermination! In all this world noon is ther lyk our verrey parfit classe—Oops! I've been reading Chaucer again!

ARISTOI

Tempus fugit . . . and at last I'm a full fledged member of Aristoi (it's Latin Hr. in case you didn't know). We might be likened to the cream of milk, because we are (ahem!!!) the best Latin students of the school. Well, we do need an "E" average in Latin . . . So there! Miss Mix helps us immensely with our syntax, et cetera. "Bona vesper nunc!"

SPANISH HONOR

Buenas noches . . . and honestly, Diary, I'm ready to say "good night" and jump into bed. This afternoon all the members of Spanish Honor were rehearsing with Mrs. Maloy for our play and we laughed so much, I'm all worn out. . . . You know, Diary . . . I think after the play is finished, the members of Spanish Honor are going to read some old Spanish Classics. Well, I'm so-o-o tired . . . Duerma bien.

SPANISH HON.: Row 3—F. Reid, M. Kerr, M. Mander, J. McPherson, V. Lundborg, M. Van Deman, V. Strouse. Row 2—A. Wilson, D. Besly, F. Jenkinson, D. Fox, C. Wallman, L. Brennan, J. Brouse. Row 1—E. Sternfield, M. Beers, Vice-Pres.; J. Crosby, Pres.; Mrs. H. Lundquist, R. Connor, Sec'y; M. Stein, Treas.; C. Gustavson.

EUCLIDEANS

Guess what! I, of all people, have been asked to join the Euclidean Club. Do you realize what that means? I'm a member of Junior Mathematics Honor. Frankly, I don't know who Euclid was, but I won't be in the dark for long.

At every meeting, Diary, some fellow-Euclidean "faces front" and tells about some famous mathematician or some mathematical theory. See you later.

PYTHAGOREANS

"Nothing succeeds like success," and am I happy. Today at a Pythagorean meeting, Miss Shoesmith gave us really "tough" problems, and, Diary, I did them all right.

You can imagine how "stiff" the competition is in the Senior Mathematics Honor Club. One fellow's smarter than the other, and I know how brilliant they all are anyway. Diary, it's good experience.

PYTHAGOREANS: Row 3—J. Sutherland, J. Pottenger, W. Erley, H. Everett, E. Theimer, E. Thomas, L. Donkle, J. Coulter, E. Ostrow. Row 2—E. Levin, J. Seskind, O. Trippel, A. Selitzky, J. ## ART HONOR

There is nothing like learning everything about one's school, is there? This afternoon I visited the Art Honor class for the first time in my high school career. Some of those kids really turn messy paints (or chalks) into bee-ooti-ful pictures. Why . . . this fellow Michaelangelo could not have been much better. I wish You could see these second Van Goghs and Raphaels at work. They surely are industrious. Each piece of work receives the loving touch that all true masters give their paintings. These students accept all criticisms good naturedly (naturally, or they would be in a bad way), for they are confident that because of them and Mrs. Lewis they will someday strike their paint filled brushes against a canvas and the result will be a masterpiece! I'm quite positive that if I were at all artistically inclined I would join the little flock in 407.

Art Honor is also the art staff of the Annual. A mighty good authority says that the '40 Aitchpe is going to have some amusing decorations!!!! (Isn't this proof that our future artists will have good senses of humor?)

You know the old saying, Diary, "variety is the spice of life?" Just to break up the usual cycle of assemblies, Art Honor has decided to give one. From the slight inkling I got, it really promises to be a "super-doooper!" I'll never forget the last art assembly we had. I was enthralled, to say the least. The chalk (or charcoal) drawings held my interest so completely, I was oblivious to all things around me. I hope I'll be able to attend our next "cycle breaker." In fact I'm almost as enthusiastic as Art Honor is!!

ART HONOR: Row 3—E. Aldrich, D. Warshaw, J. Bouras, N. Bridge, A. Barker, V. Walker, M. Polack. Row 2—L. Spindler, J. Weisskopf, L. Mesigal, C. Green, C. Larsen, C. Gussack. Row 1—C. Walton, M. Morris, Art Ed.; Mrs. Lewis, J. McPherson, Pres.: M. Saske.

HISTORY HONOR

Snuck quietly into History Honor today, and lowered a weary frame into my usual seat. Then Mr. Hipple started us off, and we soon disappeared into the twelfth century. We also tried drawing World maps from memory. Mine looked like a Picasso done under the influence of bad liquor. I guess I just can't draw this world. Oh, well, at least I will know something about it. . . .

CHEMISTRY HONOR

Bright as bunsen burners in the dark! That's us. Do we do anything in Chem. Honor? I'll say we do. We go about untying the Gordian Knots of Chemistry. Mr. Bute is prize untangler, and he does a "bang-up" job of it too! Diary, oh, just think what I would have missed if I hadn't taken Chemistry and made the grade . . . Look out world! Here come the future wizards of scientific knowledge . . . 'Nite!

CHEMISTRY HONOR: Row 3—D. Frankel, J. Wedeles, H. Cliffer, O. Rigan, J. Altheimer, M. Paul, J. Rabin, D. Stewart, L. West. Row 2—J. Seskind, J. Hauster, J. Sutherland, S. Clark, P. Forster, D. Mayer, E. Siegel, S. Siegel, W. Troll, M. Greenberg, B. Haniman. Row 1—L. Swartz, S. Fox, Sec'y-Treas., Spring; B. Rifas, Pres., Spring, Mr. Bute, E. Ostrow, Pres., Fall; O. Trippel, Sec'y-Treas., Fall; H. Herron.

ACCOUNTING HONOR

Just suppose, Diary, that no one kept any records. No one would know how much money they had or owed. The government wouldn't collect its income taxes and general confusion would be the order of the day. No likee? Well, that's how it would be if it were not for accountants, and that is what I'll be some day, I hope. . . . Many's the time Mr. Byland has straightened me out, but I'm learning fast!

I remember when I used to be just the same as any other Hyde Parker (not an honor accountant). In those days of yore I used to watch those honored peoples working, busy as bees behind the bars—Now, don't get me wrong!!! You know what I mean. They're certainly the stars of the bars in the treasurer's office . . . Next year our star twinkler will be Miss Wenig.

SENIOR SPONSORS

Being a Senior Sponsor surely gives me many privileges and if you think "Yours Truly" doesn't take advantage of them, you're mistaken. . . . I've always wanted to be one, ever since I was a small Freshie, watching the fellows in the lobby. I used to think they were playing Policemen, foolish as I was. It's hard work, I know by experience. . . . Gosh Diary, I hope Miss Kuehn doesn't assign me to some Freshie classes. They can ask the most unanswerable questions. Would I be embarrassed!

Diary, I had a date for this afternoon, but there's a Senior Sponsor meeting. I'm sure it's very important. They always are.

You know, Diary, that Betty helps in the Attendance Office, don't you? This is Senior Sponsor service.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

In my old age I'm becoming very political minded. I'm a member of Student Government. . . . Am I learning parliamentary law! Without exaggerating, Diary, it's really the governing body of the school. The halls would certainly look bare without our posters . . . Yes, the Student Government places them where all "lil' chillun" can see them. Miss Stoke certainly sponsors one grand, happy group. . . . We have a "brand new" part of Student Government, the Entertainment Bureau.

You can see, Diary, how important a "central power" is. Why if it wasn't for the Student Government, I think we'd be going around like "chickens without heads."

Oh say, Diary, you know that the time's almost here to put in petitions for class officers.

STUDENT GOV'T II: Row 3—D. Bowman, Chairman Extra Curricular Comm.; D. Duft, M. Smalley, E. McElhaney, F. Mastrofsky, Vice Chairman Welfare Comm. Row 2—L. Wing, L. Caspar, V. Lee, H. ## BOOSTERS

Behold, Diary! Today I am a Man! From now on if anyone wants to find me or my shadow, they can look in the card catalog under Samaritan, Good . . . or Booster, Big! As a cynical little Diary, you will snort in scorn at my joining the Booster's Club, and ask me with a sneer, "Little Man, why this?" I'll take five and tell you . . .

Have you ever noticed how a Righteous Glow warms your blood for having helped somebody who was down and nearly out; or perhaps merely down, having slipped on a treacherous banana peel? Well, today I helped a girl pick up her books who's had a misfortune of the banana peel variety. A while after we'd gathered up her books I stood staring at her dumbly.

"Say," she said, "would you help a girl in distress?"

"Dis dress or any other dress as long as you're the girl," I answered, none too cleverly, and so, Diary, I joined the Booster's Club. And oddly enough, I found I was getting just as much fun out of what I was doing (laying out plans for Thanksgiving baskets) as I was from who I was doing it with (the gal in distress). Not all of the meeting was spent in work (that's what I said). We discussed the all important and very mystifying question, "Who's Yahudi?" We decided to ignore the whole thing; Colona was unsportsman-like for bringing it up in the first place.

But enough of this. I thoroughly approve of helping other people as a means of getting a bigger kick out of life yourself. If you were anything but a smug little One Year Book you'd approve, too, instead of just laying there, your blank face reflecting your impassive attitude . . . Good Night!

BOOSTERS: Row 3—E. Light, F. Freeman, E. Hausmann, M. Thurston, B. Stein, W. Kaplan, J. Finnegan, D. Gentry, B. Freeman, V. Bennett, G. Hubbell, N. Leddy, B. Zuker. Row 2—A. Pleimling, M. Belland, C. Alexander, B. McFall, J. Nellis, S. Klinger, E. McElhaney, S. Friend, A. Pfau, M. Neubert, D. Kernchen. Row 1—J. Harrison, M. Lipson, Sec'y; C. Krueger, Pres.; Mrs. Edgar, E. Traub, Vice-Pres.; D. Fahy, Treas.; E. Stitt, 2nd Vice-Pres.

DEWEY LIBRARY CLUB

Oh no, Diary! Never again shall I do it! What am I raving about? . . . I'm never going to dog-ear a book the rest of my life—or do anything else to harm it! Why this sudden declaration? Well, it's like this . . . I'm a "Dewey Library Club-er." We do a lot, too! First of all, Diary, we take care of all the little library slips. You know we have to make sure that all the study-ers are in their places. Then, we check all those books in and out. Just like any good assistant librarian should, we play nurse-maid to every one of the 8,600 volumes within the library's walls. We have to see that they're always in "apple pie order."

Really, Diary, our work isn't half as hard as it may seem. We enjoy our work, that's why we beam our smiles all over our favorite room. Miss Van Hattem, "beamer-in-chief," always tells us to be courteous and efficient while we're maintaining the systematic order of the library.

Did you ever hear about our heart tag day? Why do we have it? Well . . . confidentially, magazines are the heart's desire. You've guessed haven't you, that we hold it on Valentine's Day? The magazines can't be taken out like the other books, but our daily visitors surely make use of them.

Everyone knows that all work and no play makes Jill a dull girl. That is why the walls of the Stuart Room often ring with our laughter. We certainly do do a lot!—a whole lot!

I better close this lengthy journal now, I have a swell new book to "eat up" tonight.

Dewey or do we?

Take your pick!

MONITORS

What a life!!! This afternoon while I was sitting at my monitor post . . . I was compelled to utter these words, (not my first experience of such a nature either) "Do you have a pass?" for down the hall was trotting a fine example of a school citizen. Of course, I didn't know she was such a school citizen until she revealed her pass. (I hope I did not look like a menacing monster to the poor little lamb!) When she had gone, something that slightly resembled the new Lincoln Zephyr came speeding down the corridor, and I, like the conscientious traffic cop I am, tried to ask him peacefully and quickly for a small slip of paper with the necessary information on it, but I had hardly opened my mouth when I realized he was gone! Well, even he was not as aggravating as the next passerby. That one lingered on ages talking incessantly. He did have a pass, but I guess he would not have had enough "fun" out of just showing me the paper and continuing on his way. Boy, was I glad when he had gone!! After a day of yelling thus at anyone and everyone and keeping my peepers peeled for slinking, slithering boys and girls who seem to think they are mice, or something, and try to get by me without my knowledge, you can understand why I am not too peppy by the time I hop into bed. If this continues (the way I am judging types of people) perhaps someday I'll—hmm yes, be a psychologist. Oh!! Say, I almost forgot to tell you about the most disgusting type of all. Why, they are so bold it's terrible. They just ignore you! Can you imagine the arrogance of it!! Simply being ignored when you are sitting there helping the school, . . . protecting innocent students from

VARSITY MOTHERS

I was talking to my dream man yesterday, and after sufficiently admiring the impressive school letters emblazoned on his chest, I became thoughtful. "Who supplied you with the new football uniforms your team wore during the last game?" I asked.

Now don't get me wrong, I like a fish story as well as anyone, but I guess I wasn't prepared for the tall tale which followed. When he told me that his mother was responsible for the football uniforms, as well as the base-ball, basket-ball, track and fencing attire, I remembered hurriedly that my mother had cautioned me never to associate with untruthful people, and arose to depart. I had just about reached the door when he started to mutter, "The VARSITY MOTHERS are always thinking up new things to do for Hyde Park letter-men." Well, then, of course, it all came out. He hadn't been fibbing at all—merely omitting a few important details.

It seems that more than a hundred mothers of boys engaged in athletic activities at Hyde Park have formed a useful and interesting club called "VARSITY MOTHERS." Their frequent meetings are occasions of social recreation, as well as of important transactions.

My olfactory nerves met with the most tantalizing odor when I arrived home today! Can't you just imagine my pleasure when I learned that mother was baking cookies? And a double batch at that!! Of course, I was a little disappointed because I learned that one batch was for an important P. T. A. confab to be held on the following day, and that the cookies were for the social gathering afterwards. Gosh!! Goodness gracious!! My, my!! And all other forms of exclamations, I was so-o-o-o grateful to this grand group for supplying the incentive that started my mother's lovely and most satisfying project. And speaking of projects, did you ever think of the innumerable things our Hyde Park P. T. A. does in the course of a year. They sponsor just loads of activities. They boost everything of importance to the school. They backed our most successful and very entertaining Spring Music Festival. Besides that, they donate hours of their time to the lunch room, and the money they save they place in a scholarship fund for children who need help to further their education. They also help needy persons with lunch money and carefare, etc.

You know, Diary, it surely is too bad more mothers don't join the Parent Teacher Association, but I guess they just don't realize how much enjoyment they would get out of it. I know my mother likes it immensely!!! She has met a lot of my friends' mothers, and I am positive she wouldn't give up those acquaintances for anything!

Mmmmm—I was right about these cookies—mmmmm!

cessantly. He did have a pass, but I guess he would not have had enough "fun" out of just showing me the paper and continuing on his way. Boy, was I glad when he had gone!! After a day of yelling thus at anyone and everyone and keeping my peepers peeled for slinking, slithering boys and girls who seem to think they are mice, or something, and try to get by me without my knowledge, you can understand why I am not too peppy by the time I hop into bed. If this continues (the way I am judging types of people) perhaps someday I'll—hmm yes, be a psychologist. Oh!! Say, I almost forgot to tell you about the most disgusting type of all. Why, they are so bold it's terrible. They just ignore you! Can you imagine the arrogance of it!! Simply being ignored when you are sitting there helping the school, . . . protecting innocent students from

"locker breaker inners," and donating hours of your time to help others. And to be ignored!!!! Oh, well, there's no sense in getting all excited. Naturally we have fun too. All have our very own and most comfortable chairs to rest in. We have quiet (most of the time) during which we read a good fiction book or study (the latter if we are due for a big examination). In summer the halls are always so-o-o-o-o-o cool and bre-e-ezy, and in winter the halls are so-o-o-o . . . Well, as I was saying, sometimes I get awfully discouraged and angry, but such is the life of a policeman (I always did want to be one). However, Mr. Williamson never fails to give us little pep talks when we get too moody. After one of his mental reinforcements, we are all good for another month or so. Oh, well, we monitors shall carry on for dear H.P. . . .

HYDE PARK MUSIC COMMITTEE

I have a positive mania for joining things and for the past three years I've had a speech of acceptance waiting for those who urge me to join a committee, or something. Now understand, Diary, I'm not a bit fussy, but it would be nice if I could belong to an organization like the Hyde Park Music Committee!

Everyone knows that their weekly meetings result in our famous Monthly Concerts, featuring student soloists. The programs give talented students a chance to do their stuff for a large, friendly audience, and provide the student body with the inspiration of good music and witnessing fellow students perform. There is always someone present who can't believe that the poised musician performing, is the one who recited in class that morning!

BOOK-ROOM ASSISTANTS

The book-room assistants are busy as bees,
They scurry and hurry and strive hard to please.

Today I added a snazzy item to my collection of "cogs" which make the "wheels" of Hyde Park school routine rotate so efficiently. It is the organization in our book-room, which supplies all our classes with the proper text books.

Miss Slaughter, Miss Hinkley and Mr. Howell, combine forces towards supervising and aiding nineteen civic-minded assistants in the difficult task of cataloguing, issuing, receiving and arranging text books.

I wonder if they spend their spare time reading!

CLEAN UP COMMITTEE

Spring is here, tra-la tra-la!! Sa-a-y was I startled today by a huge red and yellow clean-up poster! Was it magnificent!! Mrs. Gronert and her civic-minded clean-up committee have decided one clean-up week is not sufficiently long enough to make spots of beauty out of eye-sores. Our dirt chasers are really the best to be found. A good proof of what I say is our nice neat school.

DOWNTOWN SHOPPING NEWS

Did you hear about the big department store sale for next week? I just discovered the ad in the Downtown Shopping News. You can be sure I'll be there when the doors open.

You know Diary, the Downtown Shopping News is definitely a swell paper. We get it free of charge every Wednesday and Saturday "without fail." The reason for its prompt delivery, of course, is the courteous, "energetic," "scampering merrily" few hundreds of boys who deliver the "Shopping News."

The laugh's on me, Diary, I've neglected to tell just what the Downtown Shopping News is. Well, it's a newspaper sponsored by all the stores downtown. These stores advertise in the Shopping News and we "fashion plates" religiously read it. At least I do.

Not only are ads contained in the Shopping News, but Diary, news of all the schools, news of fashions, and even the "hottest news of the Day."

The boys that deliver the paper are divided into districts, at the head of which is a district manager. Any ambitious fellow, Diary, can win a lot of prizes. Why, scholarships are offered, prizes are given to the carrier that is in a lot of activities at school. Still better is the prize offered to those fellows who are good athletes. That's not all either, Diary, from time to time, the Downtown Shopping News sponsors essay contests, and the reward is a cash prize. That certainly is worth working for, isn't it? Gosh, Diary. I wish I were a Downtown Shopping News carrier. Maybe someday I will be.

OFFICE HELP

The days are going by so fast, before I look around, the week is gone. You know Diary, I really think it's because I'm so busy. I have registered as a member of the Office Help. Yes sir, we really help. We give needed information, run errands, file program cards, and keep the office clerks from having nervous breakdowns. If you have any office work, just call on us.

ORCHESTRA PARENTS

No siree, Diary, no more five minute practising for me anymore! Do you know why this sudden change? Well, it's really quite simple . . . Porky, "ye ole basson" and I must remain faithfully together for at least an hour since my parents have joined the noble order of Orchestra Parents! They're really a grand bunch. What would we ever do without our energetic mammas and papas? Remember when the old bass went on the blink? . . . Then, just like the Lone Ranger, came the Orchestra Parents to the rescue! After hours of scurrying around to get it in tiptop order, the club came through. Now the big bass is in A-one order once more. . . . You can just bet that my parents are sure that I always put Porky away just so . . . and I do . . . because I would never want anything to happen to dear Porky.

SOCIAL GROUPS

Dear Diary,

Though the wintry winds blow outside sociable Diary, that Stuart it's all cute and comfy almost all of the the school use it inside I'm in a very mood especially today, I always feel like after being in the room.

- You know like home looking-clubs in for meetings and parties. It just makes me wish I could belong here every club not only on the Stuart cause school is just club meetings.

account room - but be- every-body in crazy about the and with us little "particulars" - it certainly shows to go you - yes sure - Diary - we have a swell school and swell teachers and oh those clubs! You'd be surprised !!

SOPHOMORE GIRLS

C'mon students, pennies on the way . . .
Sophomore Girls' Bunny Tag Day . . .
"Won't you buy one?", a little girl calls.
Bunnies, bunnies, all through the halls.

I've been literally hopping down the halls all day today. Oh, Diary, I wish you could buy a Bunny Tag from me. Almost everyone in H.P. is wearing a paper likeness of Peter Rabbit. The pennies have just been pouring in, from timid Freshmen to "not-so-timid" Seniors. All buy our lil' Tags. I'm so glad it's such a success, we certainly worked hard enough, especially cutting out the little things. Honestly, Diary, I cut out so many bunnies, I dreamed of long ears and fluffy tails for a week. No, Diary, of course we do other things besides selling colored tags. You just should have been to our beautiful party in the Stuart Room, then you would realize how social our group really is. It's too bad, Diary, that you can't go to meetings and parties with me, Miss Frye, head bunny, starts us on the path to becoming Junior Girls. After Junior Girls? Heavens above, Diary, don't you know what comes then? Why, then comes the supreme in girls' clubs, Senior Girls! Yes, the Sophomore Girls is only the beginning. If I like the end as well as I like the beginning, I've got something to look forward to. . . . Right now, I think Sophomore Girls is one of the best clubs in the school. Of course, I'm prejudiced!!!

JUNIOR GIRLS

Lollypops, good ol' lollypops! That's what we discussed in Junior Girls today. No, we are not going back to our second childhood, Diary. We were making important decisions about our annual lollypop sale. Oh yes, the sale has become quite a tradition of Hyde Park's Junior Girls.

We really have the most glorious times . . . Our meetings are purely social. Then, too, we have our parties in the Stuart Room. We couldn't have half the fun we do have if it were not for our wonderful sponsor, Miss Rubovits. She supervises our business, and joins right in our fun.

We have the cutest little blue and silver pins. There just aren't any pins as pretty as ours for miles around. My lovely day came to an end when I lost my pin—I'm going to get another one soon, though.

SENIOR GIRLS

How time does fly . . . Why, only yesterday I was a "lil' freshie" and now look at me. A full fledged Senior Girl, "no less." And, Diary, it feels grand, no joking. You know, Diary, being an upper classman really means something. We have a lot of privileges which we are very careful not to abuse. That's really a characteristic of Senior Girls.

As you know, Diary, every semester Senior Girls plans a swell party for our lil' freshies—Freshie Frolic! Well, tomorrow is the big day. We're all working like fury trying to get all the last minute things done. Gosh! it's going to be wonderful!—Our entertainment is tops, and ice cream and lolly pops make it all the better.

SENIOR GIRLS II: Row 4—E. Cohn, P. Danks, J. Malstrom, P. Forster, M. Klinenberg, M. Kontelas, D. Fisher, M. Greenwald, A. Carlson, W. Brittan, H. Janows, R. Noven, E. Clinton, L. Mesigal. Row 3—E. Roman, D. Lynch, B. Luther, C. Mehr, E. Light, C. London, M. O'Reilly, J. Marcus, R. Newman, E. Klinget, M. Hartman, M. Carlson, L. Crane, J. Poulos. Row 1—L. Martinez, L. Kotselas, B. Leviton, Miss Biggs, Miss Henson, J. Stone, Pres.; L. Golby, M. Lawrence, C. Martinez.

By now, Diary, you probably think all we do is plan for the "Frolic," but you're definitely "all wrong."—The President of Senior Girls arranges for guest speakers who are of interest to all the girls, and are they swell. Most of the time, Diary, we have more girls at the meetings than there are seats. So what do we do?—Why jusi put up a sign "S. R. O." (Standing Room Only). That's proof enough how interesting the meetings are.

Oh my! Diary, at the last meeting we had an expert on women's fashions, color schemes, cosmetics, etc. And, Diary, guess what—she convinced me that my lipstick is the wrong shade. Sooo, beings that next week is my birthday (and I won't say which one), I have asked my friends and relatives to buy things for the sake of "beauty"—(meaning me)—And, Diary, with all those gifts I sure will look like a "fashion plate" (I hope).

The last meeting we had, Diary, was a very exciting one. The reason??? Well, we couldn't decide if Senior Girls should have a two or three page contract in the Annual. It was a mighty big decision, Diary, because there are so many of us, we don't want to be crowded. I was so glad that I could have shouted with joy when the three page contract won.

By the way, Diary, I've ordered a pin from the treasurer of Senior Girls. Are they beautiful. The color is blue and they are in the shape of a cap that goes with a "gown," You know, the kind you wear when you graduate from college. I don't know how my allowance will stand for it, but I'll manage somehow. I just must have a pin, so I will go without my milkshake after school, if necessary. Well, I'm tired. Good night.

PAN AMERICAN CLUB

Well, what do you know! There are still some people in Hyde Park who don't know that you don't have to be devotees of Spanish to belong to Pan American League! Diary, when I got "wind of the fact," you could have "knocked me over with a feather" . . . Just think of all the interesting times they have been missing . . . We who know, though, really enjoy the league. Who wouldn't with Mrs. Flores as its competent

"head-leaguer."

Everyone is "tickled pink" when time rolls around for us to present our annual assembly! This year, Diary, we gave, positively, the best performance we ever had. And we had the most luscious time doing it, too . . . This year we took Hyde Park on an imaginary trip "South of the Border" by way of our brilliant Spanish songs and dances.

THE SOCIAL RECORD

SPECIAL INTEREST

Dear Diary,
 Clubs! clubs! and more clubs!
 They're whirling around inside my head. I don't want to be a stick in the winter slush, so I want to join something besides new classes next semester. I've been listening for words of praise about organizations.
 I've heard the nicest things about the chorus,
 and orchestra,
 and athletic groups, national Consumers, Forum,
 "Bug hunters", and Oh, Diary! There's just heaps of nice things to do in Hyde Park for anybody who has a special interest. Unless I make up my mind soon, I'll be driven to distraction!

ORCHESTRA

Oh, I'm so tired! Who wouldn't be, carrying "Porky" up and down four flights of stairs is enough to make even a "he-man" weak. You know who "Porky" is don't you? He's my bassoon! Though he's a little on the hefty side, we have lots of fun tooting away with all the other little "tune makers."

Lately Miss Finley has been marvelling at my wonderful progress. It's really quite simple to understand. It is "easier than pie" to climb the scale of success with Miss Finley's super guidance (seasoned with a large pinch of practice.)

Just the other day we made a recording of our "prized works." We show our true colors at the Spring Festival.

'Bye now . . . have to practice . . . Porky's calling.

Richards, Sec'y-Treas.; Hammond.

A CAPPELLA

Ah! at long last an angora sweater has come fluffing into my life! I just know that it made me sing twice as well today in A Cappella. Sometimes I do not see how our "do-mi-soling" will ever be anything but a jumbled mess. Yet, at our concerts . . . "You'd Be Surprised" at our marvelous ability. Mrs. Lee isn't though. She knows that her "blue robed melody makers" will always soar up, up to top place in everything we do. And, Diary, our "sing-fests" are really something to brag about. Oh! do-ti-sol . . . You know, we couldn't fill the air with our gems of harmony if it weren't for our faithful supporters. Every fall we sponsor a magic slate sale . . . (write . . . whee . . . and it's gone). The profits go towards buying us new music . . . Tra, la. All Hyde Park is a "proud as punch" of us, I know.

A CAPPELLA II: Row 3—D. Sander, A. Merchant, J. Pines, J. Maguire, R. Turner, R. Presson, J. Parker, W. Robins, D. Wolberg, N. Pappas, J. Swedberg, R. Wood, D. Burris, L. Nikowitz. Row 2—G. Sabbath, L. Stein.

MALE CHORUS I: Row 3—H. Lentz, J. Davis, Pres.; N. Harrison, B. Boentges, B. Day. Row 2—J. Harwood, K. Levy, J. Clarke, E. Miller, M. Hayman, W. Loving, Sec'y-Treas.; A. Loewenstein. Row 1—L. Guthmann, J. Greenspon, Miss Whelan, D. Felsenthal, D. Gosnell.

MALE CHORUS

I've been launched on my career, into the sea of something or other to see if I can hold up in the vocal swim. I've been accepted into Male Chorus, and I'm having lots of fun "seeing" if I can sing. Even if it is just an optical, or should I say vocal, illusion, my larynx is going to get an airing. That, Diary, is what is popularly known as killing two of the best quality stones with one bird. . . .

I can't make up my mind just why I like the absence of girls from the class; the only one in the place is Miss Whelan who does her best to keep us happy and contented. She will certainly have a large job; taking my untutored vocal chords and turning them into obedient little music makers! I wish her luck. . . .

MALE CHORUS II: Row 3—B. Rosen, R. Zcox, W. Thompson, E. Jackson, S. Reidg, Bus. Mgr.; L. Sirner, J. Tibor. Row 2—C. Silverman, J. Shaw, D. Soderborg, B. Riddle, R. Strauss, W. Troll, E. Rubin. Row 1—A. Schachtman, J. Rosen, Miss Whelan, G. Senelick, A. Palais.

GIRLS' CHORUS I: Row 3—G. Beals, M. Lowes, J. Levit, J. Fultz, N. Miller. Row 2—R. Lant, E. Edelman, B. Ansett, B. Targ, Accomp.; M. Gill, B. Landa, R. Greenspan. Row 1—C. Gustavson, D. Karie, V. Alexander, Miss Guller, A. Beardsley, Vice-Pres.; B. Jones, Treas.; C. Hoffman.

GIRLS' CHORUS

I have the grandest new outfit—(Not my spring one). A blue satin cape with white braid. To be honest with you, Diary, it's the uniform of the Girls' Chorus and our Miss Guller styled them herself. Believe me, when we get on the stage, we make a beautiful sight.

Oh, Diary, we're getting ready for the Spring Festival, the first of its kind in any high school and Miss Guller sure is a strict "task master."

It's "all or nothing" and you can rest assured it'll be all. We're really perfect, Diary, better than ever and always progressing. Yes sir, that's us all right.

More about the festival. One of our Choristers is going to be the accompanist for the entire program and are we proud of ourselves. Another is to have a solo part.

MIXED CHORUS

Now don't you insult my singing . . . I'm in Mixed Chorus! And believe you me, I bet I can hit the notes correctly at least. After the Music Festival I know I have improved my technique. Not only that, but the entire chorus has proved that they sure know their stuff. We really worked like "regular troupers" getting ready in time, but we did not mind. We had lots of fun doing it.

Now, Diary, take our parties in the Stuart Room . . . They certainly are social successes. We sing, play games and in general, we are not wall flowers, not by a "long shot."

We not only stick to singing, but Oh, Diary, we go in for parliamentary law, too. Every semester we have a general election. Maybe I'll be an officer some day. I surely hope so. With our officer and parties and everything you really wouldn't know we're a class. And it's all because of Miss Churchill, too. She's more like a friend and one of us, than a teacher.

You understand, don't you Diary, that we're always in shape for whatever may come along. And something is sure to turn up. What with the P.T.A. meetings, assemblies and the like, we're kept jumping, I mean singing—from morn 'till night. But that's our job, and we love it.

Some day Miss Churchill will realize her dream when some of her "mixed chorusers" will be heard on "stage, screen or over the ether waves." That dream, Diary, definitely "lets me out." I'm in the mixed chorus just for the fun of it.

FRENCH CLUB

I've done loads of things since last writing. Guess I will have to tell you all about them. Well, to begin with I went to the French Club meeting. I could hardly understand a word. Everyone was speaking in French. . . . The latest news is that we are going to give a play. The play is going to be in French, that'll mean lots of practicing and rehearsing. Mrs. Jensen brought some French records and were they "magnifique."

I think I have missed my vocation. You know why? Well I've helped in theatre Guignol, Punch and Judy to you. The first time I had every one of the strings twisted, but now I do it perfectly. Not only that, but I think I will actually make a few of those puppets myself, then perhaps I'll make it my profession, "Bon Soir."

FRENCH CLUB II: Row 3—R. Wood, F. Moher, M. Lippert, P. Hefter, J. Fleischman, J. Weinshenker, J. Walker, B. Branch, L. Hall, T. Flanders, S. Siegel. Row 2—L. Berman, M. Rosenblatt, M. Gutridge, C. Turovlin, B. Leviton, L. Henderson, H. Appelman. Row 1—A. Solomon, B. Lason, B. Targ, Vice-Pres.; Mr. Hipple, Q. Young, Pres.; J. Marcus, E. Shankman

FORUM

I have finally found the place where I can argue to my heart's content. It's the Forum meeting. Believe me, I'm in seventh heaven. Mr. Hipple certainly chooses the best subjects for debate. But frankly, Diary, I wish our side would win for once. It gets pretty discouraging, always being on the losing end, but then, every debator has his day. So I venture to say ours will come soon.

I looked at a program listed in one of my class rooms and discovered, Diary, that Forum has scheduled a series of guests, speaking on the problems that face our country. I certainly am looking forward to them with a lot of anticipation. The discussions should be the height of the Forum season, and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if this season isn't the best ever. Well, see you later.

VOX POPULI

I'm surely glad I was accepted in H. P.'s active public speaking club!! (It's really a class, but our happy medium is calling it a "class club.") Oh! By the way . . . The name is really Vox Populi (Vox Pop for short). We're learning to speak, but even though the word is small the subject itself is unlimited. There are all sorts of branches. For instance, to take his mind off himself when he's approaching the speaker's platform, a football player is told to imagine himself a stout girl in a tight pair of shoes. And then the art of acting and talking as naturally as possible with an audience in front of one. That is really hard, but we "public speakers" are overcoming such obstacles beautifully. After we're at ease, then we learn to speak clearly (enunciate, as it were) so that people in the back of the hall will be able to understand us and not be bored. Naturally, they won't be bored, because we also learn how to interest an audience.

Public Speaking gave a breakfast not long ago. We had entertainment besides our version of bacon and eggs. Miss Hardy certainly understands human nature. She is anybody's idea of the perfect public speaking teacher. I think she's proud of us too, because we've gotten ourselves a great honor. One of our members was chosen, from a field of fifty-six, to be a part of the team in the round table conference of the U. of C.

We have made plans for the future too, Diary. Now we have made arrangements for a theatre party downtown. I'm sure we'll all have a rollicking good time!!

JOURNALISM CLUB

Boy oh boy oh boy! Do I have problems! Today in Journalism we spent hours trying to write headlines. Sounds easy did you say, Diary? Well, listen to me whilst I explain what happened.

First of all, you know a headline has to have so many letters, no more, and no less. Well, I had a headline to write in just so many letters and no more . . . The trouble came in where I could not do it in fifteen characters . . . "Annual Sales Rise" was what stuck me. Clearly this has seventeen, and not fifteen characters. What was I to do? And I'd been getting along so well to . . . Miss Slater wouldn't have given it to me if there wasn't some way to do it . . . Finally, I admitted defeat and went up to Miss Slater's desk. Oh Fudge!!!! What do you think that dog-gone word turned out to be? Of all things, it was "up"! I knew I was just a "little green cub reporter," and supposed to be dumb, but I didn't think I was that bad. When she told me the answer I felt so small I could have gone right under anything without ever lifting it "up". Talk about surprises, when she said "up" I heard drums roar, and gongs go off, and the walls of the room receded.

Oh well, Diary, I am learning, slowly but surely I may learn enough to be put on the Weekly; and then won't I be something. Golly! No matter how dumb I am, newspaper work is the tops!

Well, Diary, you don't have to be told how swell it is to get on the paper, but it sure takes a lot of hard work doesn't it? More to writing than just putting down words!

Listen my children—

BLUE MASK

Am I blue? Well, yes, in a way, but not the melancholy sort. You see, I just joined the Blue Mask Club today . . . And if you think there is nothing remarkable about that, Diary, you're mistaken. It all began like this.

After a long and weary day slaving away at my school work, I unsuspectingly turned in a study to rest my tired bones. Imagine my surprise to be met at the door by a gal who cried:

"Darling! You've been away at the wars So long! I told mother just this morning I was afraid you'd never return. Don't ever leave me again!" Ordinarily, I would have turned and fled, but suddenly there flashed into my mind the explanation. This must be some poor demented lass who had slipped away when the guards weren't looking.

"Let's sit down," I said, "and you can tell me how it all happened." Up to this point I had been master of the situation. Here she fooled me, and she also made me feel rather foolish. She laughed at my very best sympathetic look, and confessed she'd just been rehearsing her part in one of the Blue Mask plays. She wasn't crazy at all!

"Tell me more," said I, and the first thing I remember after that, was looking in a mirror and discovering that I was made up like Groucho Marx! Where am I? Why, I was in the dramatics room, and having more fun than a barrel of monkeys . . . They told me about all the fun they have in play producing, and when I thought of the possibilities a Thespian has, like getting a chance to play Hamlet! Well, I had a tryout, was accepted by Miss Hardy, and Now I am an actor. I may sell you someday, Diary, as my Memoirs!

Beware, Hollywood!

CLASSICAL CLUB

I had the grandest time today! I didn't go to the show, or a play, or get out of my music lesson, but I did join Hyde Park's newest Latin Club. Classical Club, that is what we call it. Yes, sir, we are Latin comrades, and we love it! Oh! I know you'll think we go around with heavy glasses and our faces buried in a big volume of Caesar's wars. But you and all the rest who believe any such gossip are all wrong. Naturally, we'll further our knowledge of this ancient language, (we'll have the environment too, because our officers are consul, tribune, et cetera), but Mrs. Bergstrand, magistra nostra, will see to it that we have plenty of fun. There is no doubt but what Classical Club will make quite an impression on Hyde Park and its Latin lovers. Classical Club is an organization everyone will want to join, and even though this is the first semester it has been in existence, we already have a remarkably large membership. Oh, Diary, I just can't tell you enough about Classical Club.

You know, formerly it was "Comites Latini" (Commrades of Latin). That was when just Mrs. Bergstrand's classes were the members!—But they're not clanish.—No siree sir, they wanted all Latin students to join in the fun they've been having. Now, all classes are united in a school-wide organization, just like the state-wide Classical Club.

CONSUMERS' CLUB

We all, I'm aware, are consumers;
But here, dear friends, is the rub,
Not all who consume are lucky enough
To belong to Consumers' Club!

Diary, with Mr. Fiedler for our sponsor, we Consumers really learn all about the products we buy.

G. A. A.

Well, Diary, guess what I did today. I went to the big G.A.A. spread. It was more fun, and refreshments! Mmmmm were they luscious. I found out that I have just 300 more points to go before I'll get my letters. Can't you see me strutting around with my blue and white sweater adorned with resplendant letters. Ah, Diary, don't you take this "G.A.A.ing" too lightly. All those points represent a lot of work (lots of fun, too).

I swam, bicycled, hiked, and ping-ponged to get this many. Oh dear, I can't seem to think of any more ways to win points. Guess I'll have to ask Miss Marston, she's very interested in us, I know she'll help me. Oh, I forgot to tell you that we elected our officers for this next year. The prettiest girls were chosen. But, after all, we "G.A.A.ers" are the "pick" of the school (ahem). Speaking of the "Pick" of the school, you should have seen our act in the Girl's Posture Assembly yesterday. We gave a snappy little skit to show all "non-athletic gals" what they were missing. I guess the "info" did some good. Anyway, we now have a bevy of ambitious new members. Goodness! I got so excited I forgot that I have to telephone Susy, she and I planned a long, long trek tomorrow. We're going to hunt for the latest in wild flowers.—Guess I'd better go "beddy by," maybe I'll dream of awards, posies, and hikes.

ZOOLOGY CLUB

I wish I were a lil' bug,
A chirpin' all day long,
Jus' sittin' there a singin'
A merry lilting song.

Really, Diary, I've learned so much about all the bugs and things since I have joined Zoology club. I feel that I could double for an insect any time. Not a bad insect, but one of those good, helpful ones we read about sometimes during meeting.

Gee, to hear me talk, you'd think bugs were the only things into which we delved; but really, they are only a tiny, tiny part of our zoological research. We study animal life from birds to snakes.

GARDEN CLUB

Haven't you ever wondered why one house looks like Beverly Hills and a next door neighbor's like a box with a slate roof? Well, the secret has at last leaked out. If one of the owners of the two houses has been a member of Garden Club, his is the house that looks like Beverly Hills! Two ladies of Hyde Park's faculty are responsible for the Garden Club; they are Miss Fuchs and Mrs. Hawkes. It is under their expert tutelage that Hyde Park's "studes" learn the whys and wherefores of gardening. It is their fault I have had a Brain Child; I'm going to plant a garden. I'm going to plant a lot of flowers and shrubs and the weeds will grow by themselves. . . . I took one look at the technicolor movies of Holland, Michigan, in tulip time and decided that what our house needs, Diary, is bigger and better landscaping, with a garden in the backyard. We also saw, to our amazement, models of the gardens of the ancient Greeks and Romans, and discovered some nifty spade work of the Japanese.

Really beautiful flowers don't just happen; they are grown, and we'uns are the boys and gals to do it. I haven't been a member long (I just was admitted today), but Mrs. Hawkes has kind of taken Yours Truly under a wing that is highly instructive, as well as sympathetic. . . .

Well, to continue, Diary, and get this finished before I doze off and forget you, before I studied flowers I simply admired them for their beauty. Now (ahem) I know what happens from seed to blossom; or at least I almost do . . . Well, Diary, Goo Bye. . . .

AITCHPE TRIBE

In the spring a young girl's fancy! Hmm-mm-m well, it turns to thoughts of one of those big bold warriors of the Aitchpe Tribe. Yes, sir, hearts go flutter, flutter when one comes trotting down the hall (they never walk, they are so full of pep). Perhaps it is a mystery to you how we can tell whether it's a school "brave" or just a citizen prancing along. They wear big blue letters on their school sweaters!! they're so proud of them and have reason enough to be. It is every freshman's ambition to receive his letters which are the symbol of athletic feats, and they are not obtained in a day. Gosh, Diary, I wish you were one of those Hyde Park letter-men, then you'd play football and baseball and basketball and soccer, and you'd make Mr. Hasan and the students and the faculty proud of you. And you'd be oh . . . so big and strong. Why, you'd make man mountain Dean look puny. Some of our young "Gabby Hartnetts" and the like even win scholarships because of their excellence in athletics. No fooling, Diary, after what I've told tonight, you should know pretty well what a Hyde Park sportsman looks like.

No doubt I have told you about those beautiful trophies in the trophy cases which line a few of our corridors. These are proof of the skill of Hyde Parkers when they are battling with other schools. They are all different sizes and shapes. And so attractive. But getting back to our many victories, naturally the stars of these games were either already honored with their blue and white chevrons, or else on the verge of getting them.

BRIDLE AND BOOT

Bet you think it's funny that I'm standing up while I am writing this, but heaven's above, you would be too, if you had just become a Bridle and Booter. . . . It was my first experience upon a horse and oo-oooh . . . how I know it now! But, of course, there's got to be a first time for everything! I just wonder what Miss Finley felt like after her first jaunt . . . ? I'm awfully glad that I've become one of those "trotters," although I do need a barrel of liniment after each gallop. We have lots of fun. Besides riding, and learning about the best care of horses, we have wonderful parties. Charlie, he is the favorite of my prancing steeds, kept casting his baby blue "peepers" on me—Honestly—I bet he thought I wasn't using the latest forms of mounting. This is a painful good-nite.

AITCHPE MINOR STAFF

Now that the Aitchpe has just come out Let's go! I'm going to take you on that mental tour for which you've been begging since I joined the Aitchpe Staff. Well, Diary, first of all, do you see that busy little group of people over in the corner? That's the Activities Staff . . . And those checkboard affairs are not games, but 'dummy sheets.' Seems to me, Diary, that we have staffs that do the very same type work that some of the largest publishing houses do. Take the business staff, for instance. It has acquired a lovely room all to itself. All the little annual agents flock to this room to turn in the nickles and dimes they've collected from the subscribers. . . . What's that mumbling you hear? Oh, that's just the Copy Staff counting characters. You know, they're the ones who write the clever paragraphs below the pictures. Character counting is their most tedious job. They make sure that there are so many spaces and no more for each line. Quite some job? Those two people conferring are the Faculty Editor and the Production Editor. Maybe they're discussing exactly how the Faculty feature ought to be laid out. Those people over there? No, Diary! . . .

They're not cutting paper dolls. They're trimming up the various teams' pictures . . . That's the Sports Staff. So you see all those important-looking people at the desk? One is Miss Leitch, the other's the editor, they're getting their heads together on some art work that just came down from the Art Room. oooops! There's that photography staff again. Guess they're taking "shots" for our feature page . . . Do you think my picture'll be in the book? That person pulling her hair over there is merely trying to fit some popular person's pedigree into the seemingly small space allotted. She's on the Classes Staff.

Yes, Diary, it's all hard work . . . and there's a lot of it, too! But we all love it, and wouldn't trade it for a million dollars! Gee, just think, if I work hard enough, I may be promoted to the Major Staff next year! I'll keep my fingers crossed and I'm going to do my best.

Aside from our work and jolly times in the Annual Room, we have our parties. During Christmas vacation, all those who didn't get to come to our gathering, for some reason or another, really missed lively fun!

COMPILING THIS YEARBOOK

WEEKLY DAILY WORK

WEEKLY: Row 2—M. Waterhouse, D. Scofield, W. Brittan, M. McClenahan, S. Friedman, M. Klinenberg. Row 1—L. Buck, C. Kyros, S. Nichols, K. Wilson, M. Lawrence.

WEEKLY MINOR STAFF

We don't deny the Weekly's good,
It's one grand publication.
And every good Hyde Parker greets
Its coming with elation.

Did I actually write that? At times I amaze myself! Why, only yesterday I had the most brilliant thought. The way I "figger" is that even a stranger ignorant of the day on which the Weekly is distributed would guess something was going on from the anticipatory buzz of excitement that circulates through the school on that momentous occasion. Honestly, even the lofty seniors impolitely grab for copies, and then come the "Oh's," and the "Ah's," and, "Why didn't somebody tell me that the Sigma's had that big meeting on Monday—I missed it! One of my pals runs up excitedly, "I have to dash to my class, but be sure to look for my name on page four." I turn to page four, and there it is. Maybe my name will get into one of those columns too, someday! That's the nice thing about the Hyde Park Weekly—It is my paper and yours!

Peter Pan had nothing on the Weekly, which is very busy celebrating its twenty-eighth year of successful publication. The National Scholastic Press Association has, for two semesters, given it a rating of "All American."

Weekly boys and girls are made of sugar and spice and other things nice, like galleys, proofs, headline charts, ad books, ink, glue, and scads of paper.

I casually dropped in the other day and found the place alive with activity. Speak about co-operation! The Literary and Feature Editors were admiring the Art Editor's beauteous art. The wise students talking with Mr. Zehner, turned out to be the business department and advisor, conferring. The News Editors were busily holding confab over the select items of the day, while Ye Editress, who has really proved that girls are as capable as boys any old time, alternately supervised, scribbled industriously, and smiled benignly over all.

The fact that a school publication is no stronger than its greenest cub-reporter, doesn't bother capable Miss Gallagher, because she's firmly convinced that she has the cream of the crop working on the Weekly Staff. Anyone can tell you that this liking is mutual!

'Pens' Spring Staff

As the year draws to a close, the staff of The Hyde Park Weekly is proud to announce the members of the 'Pens' Spring Staff. This group of talented individuals has been working hard throughout the year to bring you the best news and information possible. We are confident that their efforts will continue to make The Hyde Park Weekly a valuable resource for the community.

Calling All 4A's!
Join Graduation
Committees Now

While it is true that the graduation committees are now being formed, it is not too late to join. We are looking for students who are interested in helping to plan the graduation ceremony and who want to be part of a team that will make the event a memorable one for all. If you are interested, please contact the student body president or the faculty advisor for more information.

PENS

A woman's prerogative is to change her mind, and I have changed mind for the fiftieth time. Yes, about my career again. I had decided to become a journalist, but after I had read my stories and poems, I decided to wash dishes, but it's back to journalism. This is how it happened.

Hearing of the class in creative writing, open to all "comers," I asked Miss Byrne, and now I'm a member. After much writing, I'm having four creations in Pens, the magazine which is edited by we creative writers. It is good, and don't laugh! Pens is a magazine containing only original poems and short stories. Nearly all of the material is written by this creative writing class, and, now you know, Diary, why I am out for journalism. I'm glad I was not led astray.

BASEBALL

Stretch!

Wait'll I get to bat!

Sture-e-e-k!

A bunt

Batter up! And with other such enthusiastic shouts, H.P.'s baseball team won!! Swatek gave a performance even Ol' Diz' would have admired. What a game!! In the first half of the fifth inning when Hyde Park was on the field with a man on first base, the batter hit a bouncing ball to the short stop. Up with the ball!!! "Short" . . . to second to first to complete a beautiful double play!! Well, such is the ability of Hyde Parkers when instructed by Coach Schultz.

Our boys can't be referred to as the "nine ol' men!"

TRACK

Montgomery takes the hurdle
On your mark!

Jacobs holds the pole
Gettin' in condition

Joe clears the bar

Yep! Them thar boys on the track team are shaping up all right! Out of an uncompleted schedule, they've defeated Bowen and Calumet, and have hopes of further scoring.

Julius Nieman and Tom Manning have won Track Letters. Coach Elliott Hasan hopes for a great next year.

When the weather gets nice and sunny—(well, we still have hopes of some non-rainy days) the boys'll be gaily sprinting around the park for their outdoor track exercise. Oh, yes, the boys have a track on the lake front. Our excellent junior team participated in the Wilson relays. Some boys those juniors. . . .

TENNIS

This year Hyde Park probably has the most evenly matched tennis team in many years. Co-operation is their key-note and there is no tale about an outstanding star carrying the team.

At first the boys were handicapped by the complete absence of under-graduate letter-men on the squad. Coach Hasan handled this problem by holding various tournaments which were so successful that he assembled, by the time the semester was fairly well started, a promising potential group. Further elimination brought the number down to ten men.

Ted De Looze, Mordecai More, Earl Theimer, and James Erwin make up a combination hard to beat. Boys like Henry Reinhardt and Paul Sobel, are material which promises a fine mater team for next year.

Interesting features of the year are the matches between Hyde Park and St. John's Military Academy at Delafield, Wisconsin, and those between Hyde Park and the University High School.

Coach Elliott Hasan remarks that with the exception of the regular play-offs with high schools of the South Side Section, these events are the high spots of the year. Even the alternates of the team are given a chance to play their own matches following those of the varsity team.

Team positions are decided by the frequent matches between team members and alternates. Thus, there is no outstanding player who invariably can be found in first position. Competition for honors and places is keen and no man is so far out ahead that he can afford to relax.

My add
Match point

Bad weather is the only thing which will keep these boys off the University of Chicago Tennis Courts, where they practice daily. They're not "Don Budes" yet, but all of them know the meaning of fair play.

TENNIS: Row 2—T. de Looze, H. Reinhardt, P. Sobel, D. Whiting. Row 1—B. Wilson, M. Moore, Erwin, E. Theimer.

Ace it, Theimer!

GOLF

Our golf team has been coming into its own for the past two months. With the arrival of Spring the young men's fancy turns to thoughts of niblicks and mashies and the intricacies and foibles of sand-traps and water holes. (Patience, men! Remember to count up to ten when you take twelve strokes even to approach the green. (No less than twenty when a ball or two is lost.)

Captain Ralph Ettlinger has proved himself a very valuable man for the past three years. Ralph had a tough break. A broken knuckle prevented him from going out to win the State High School Championship. He was one among four Chicago boys able to qualify.

Jack Hempel, Tom Friedman, and Edward Nelson complete the regulars. Because they do not wish to monopolize the opportunity and fun which it affords, the first team alternates with the second team which is composed of Leroy Branman, Jimmy Shibko, Teddy Fox, and Bill Goldstein.

Competition adds much to the zest of the game—so our team annually plays high schools in the South Side Section of Chicago. For many years in succession we have been Section Champions. Constant practice, inside and outside, bring down their scores pretty well towards par. Most of the boys are convinced that there is no other game that can touch golf for plenty of thrills, exercise, and genuine pleasure. They also emphasize the fact that everyone can't become a good golfer. Much practice, perseverance and natural ability are what it takes.

Mr. George West, the Coach, plays the game like a professional, is a title holder, and has been most successful in teaching these boys to keep their eye on the ball, and complete a good follow-through.

GOLF: Row 2—Hempel, Goldstein, Shipco. Row 1—Lindhaur, Ettlinger, Capt.; Friedman.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Asher swats the ball

Bouras returns it

My arm is so stiff that I can hardly hold a pen in my hand. But then, Diary, my first thoughts are of you so I will just forget my suffering for a while.

Really my arm is stiff. It is from playing a strenuous game of tennis this afternoon. Pretty soon, I will be able to challenge a professional (?). From now on, a lot of us girls go to the gym every afternoon for tennis lessons. And believe it or not, Diary, we're really learning the game from "the ground up."

Last year, before I took tennis lessons, I played so badly that I was ashamed to be seen on the tennis courts. Times have changed, Diary; now my form is A No. 1.

I almost forgot to tell you that when the weather gets nice and warm, all the "racquet-eers" are going to play tennis on the Jackson Park courts. Then will we go to town.

One thing, Diary, that is a most unpardonable sin in tennis is playing a "love" game. That is when the loser hasn't made any points. So, you can easily see why it is so disgraceful.

Well, for one with a pretty stiff arm, I sure have outdone myself. We girls are noted for our ability to make a mountain out of a "mole hill." I guess I have succeeded very well. But now, you too can play tennis. That's quite an accomplishment.

GIRLS' BASEBALL

Lawrence is the "bat-her?"

Sarlas—"dizzy"

In spring we usually think of something green . . . something like buds and grass. (I certainly hope you didn't suspect I was going to pull that old gag about Christmas jewelry!) These are not the only green signs that remind Hyde Parkers, and other afternoon "strollers in the park" of the loveliest season of the year. Green clad baseball players also decorate the "picnickers retreat" (known to you as Jackson Park). These fair ladies bat, pitch, catch, etc., almost as well as the boys. But just as long as they are the best girls, we'll not worry about their matching the boys' ability.

Our players are the best our Alma Mater develops. We have very strict tests for picking new members. If we did not, our reputation would be ruined. No one gets on the team simply because she "has a friend who knows a girl." Each girl must be a good athlete . . . a member of G.A.A.

Since we are a part of G.A.A., Miss Marston coaches us. We are one of her chief concerns, but she is a most capable little person and coaches capably. (Marvelous deduction). She says she enjoys instructing us, because we are always in a receptive mood. We're kept posted on any new bits of information that might be helpful in developing our poise or technique.

I've been talking with some members of the team, and they agree that they should play ball with the boys. This sounds like quite an idea. If they ever do, I will surely be in the grandstands! Maybe by then I will have composed a rousing cheer.

I cannot slight our manager, Elizabeth Conrad. Why, she "arranges" the teams, takes attendance, and she has charge of equipment. She's chosen by G.A.A. officers.

JUNE SENIORS

Dear Diary,

It doesn't seem possible that my high school days are almost over. I never before realized how fond I've grown of dear old Hyde Park  It isn't just the building  it's the people in it, the classes, the faculty  the clubs, dances, and best of all....

the good there.

run that

Well, we've race-and now it's over we're really as happy as we thought not we'd be. Freshie, Senior.

Yep, it's been swell! Sophomore, Junior, All four years!

They're all memories trade for

I would not a million dollars.

Good nite, Diary, and wish me as much luck as

I've already had.

PROM KINGS AND QUEEN

Just look! Isn't that a perfectly lovely predicament the Prom Queen is in?—Two Kings.—Yes, I know it isn't fair. I realize that you don't even have one boy friend, but, after all, Hyde Parkers just could not decide which of these two gorgeous boys they liked the best. Oh, no, we couldn't have had two Queens, Jean was way ahead . . . Pretty isn't she—Gee, I wish I were a Prom Queen—with two kings.

MALOY'S DIVISION

The spirit of Hyde Park! You know Diary, Mrs. Maloy's division certainly exemplifies that spirit. Why, they're all seniors—(the high and mighty) and they wanted to have a last memento—so—they as a class—had their last division picture together. That's touching, don't you think, Diary?

Wouldn't you like to have a picture record of yourself for the last few years? I would and I certainly wish I had.

DIVISION MALOY: Row 2—V. Swanson, B. Gill, D. Vittum, B. Fortune, W. Rinebarger, A. Maloy, G. Saphir, R. Flynn, N. Flessor, N. Bridge, D. Sander. Row 1—B. Ortlund, E. Simmerman, B. Flessor, B. Cooper, P. Howard, H. Cohen, R. Brottman, B. Hunt, J. Gwen, J. Lawson, A. Shover, L. Sherman.
